Tim,

Was away from my computer for a bit. I have these figures depending on how you like your contextual highlighting.

John,

I would like to include the chemical structure for CIPFPECA in our NJ NTA report similar to what we did for NH below.

Do you have? I am copying James because I think he was the one who helped me with NH in case you don't have.

Thanks.
